Highlights

President of Sierra Leone and Prime Minister of Democratic Republic of the Congo chose Mining Indaba to address the industry

Both H.E. Julius Maada Bio, President of Sierra Leone and H.E. Sylvestre Ilunga, Prime Minister of Democratic Republic of the Congo were amongst first headliners to open the show. H.E. Julius Maada Bio took the opportunity to outline fiscal and legislative changes in a bid to attract more investment to the country whilst H.E. Sylvestre Ilunga stressed the importance of respecting 2018 mining code changes.

Investment Battlefield final broadcast live on CNBC Africa to 48 countries

Tietto Minerals took home the 2020 Investment Battlefield trophy with their Côte d'Ivoire gold project and all finalist instantly gained international media coverage when the final was broadcast live on CNBC Africa.

A new record was set - 30% female speaker line-up and an all-female Main Stage panel

WiM's Elizabeth Johnson likened the momentous occasion as walking on the moon for the first time. Our leading females who represented all four corners of the industry weren't there to just talk "diversity" but discussed all critical matters from climate change and ESG investing to digital innovation.

Hon. Gwede Mantashe caused a media frenzy with his energy bombshell announcement

"SA looking at creating new energy producer outside Eskom, says Mantashe" was the headline on Business Day just a few hours in to the conference with Reuters, FT and many more major press outlets also reporting the major announcement.

- Meeting and networking opportunities were at an all-time high More meeting spaces, a customer-built intelligent matchmaking system and a truly mind-blowing inaugural After Hours Party meant networking, from focused meetings to organic interactions maximised delegates connections and return on time.
- "A Legal Indaba" welcomed general counsels to the Mining Indaba community

Legal professionals had their very own stream of content. Discussing risk, growth and sustainability the brand-new General Counsel Forum produced in partnership with Africa Legal convened the great legal minds from Anglo American, Rio Tinto, Ivanhoe Mine and many more.

Enabling Deal-making and Connections

The Unmissable Gala Dinner

Sponsored by Anglo American and held on their beautiful wine estate the annual extravaganza is an evening for relationship building, making new connections, dancing and enjoying fine wines all in a stunning Instagram-worthy setting.

VIP Lounge – New for 2020

Reserved for our most senior attendees to interact without interruption, the closed off space provided a quiet area to host private meetings and take some down time.

Investment Pavilion

The restricted area is a dedicated deal-making area for junior miners and investors, home to both the Investor Lounge and Junior Mining Showcase it encourages organic interactions as well as provides bookable meeting space.

After Hours Party – New for 2020

You really missed out if you didn't make this one! Guests were left astonished by Illusionist Larry Soffa truly mind-blowing tricks. There was chocolate and wine pairing, craft beer tasting, a gin station, jazz band, foods from around the world and lots of networking of course.

Intelligent Business Matchmaking Technology and Lounge

We invested heavily in the customer built-matchmaking system that delivers you with your top business matches based on your search criteria. You can then connect and arrange meetings in various locations throughout the conference including the dedicated Matchmaking Lounge.

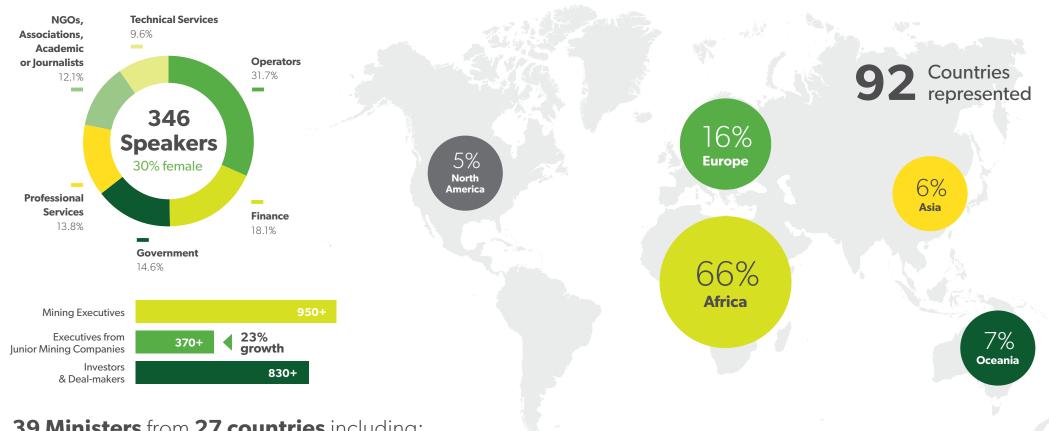

Lunch is a Social Affair

Not only did we upgrade the lunch hall to include designated seating areas and sofas, lunch was also served in networking lounges encouraging more organic interactions.
